

APPLICATION & SELECTION PROCESS

Application Process:

Who can apply?

Mathematics, computer science and closely related disciplines:

- Undergraduates
- PhD Candidates
- Postdocs

Where can I apply?

Online Application Tool supported by the HLFF office. Applications for this Forum can only be submitted via the online application tool:

www.application.heidelberg-laureate-forum.org

What do I need?

- Required Documentation in all Categories:
CV; statement of purpose; awards, other scientific achievements (if any); letter of recommendation (1-3)
- Additional Information from PhD Candidates:
Short summary of thesis topic; transcripts; publications (if any)
- Additional Information from Postdocs:
Short summary of thesis topic; publications

Submission

Selection Process:

Review

- International reviewers from mathematics; appointed by the IMU and the Abel Board in cooperation with the Scientific Committee
- International reviewers from computer science; appointed by the ACM in cooperation with the Scientific Committee
- Scientific Committee makes the final selection

E-Mail Notification

yes

no

Invitation

Successful applicants will be invited to participate in the HLF. If participants cannot obtain financial support from their home institutions or national agencies, they may request travel funding from the HLFF.

Rejection

The number of places for the HLF is limited. Young researchers are welcome to apply again for the next HLF.